Redis Software Annual Plan
Service Package

A Redis Software database offers high performance data operations with linear scalability of your data while ensuring high availability. Application developers adopt it for dozens of performance-intensive use cases using the programming language of their choice. If your goal is to maximize the value of your Redis Software subscription, then this Annual Plan is ideal for that objective. It offers 10 on-demand pre-recorded operator and/or developer training classes delivered by our senior instructors, plus you will have access to our Redis Software field solutions repository. The plan provides 40 hours of consulting services per month where you can utilize our service packages for your operations and application development initiatives. Architecture review meetings will be scheduled on a quarterly basis to assess the health of your production clusters and plan for future growth. All services are delivered during standard business hours.
